DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 3 & 4 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should refer to other claims in the alternative only. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 14 and 19 are rendered indefinite because these claims amount to a proviso excluding what has already been claimed in claim 1. Conventionally, provisos are set forth in the independent claim to narrow the scope of the claim. It is unclear what applicant contemplates as the scope of claims 14 and 19 and the dependent claims. The claims are setting forth what the claimed invention is not, rather than specifying what it is. Further clarification and/or correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 1743

4. Claims 1, 2, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by USP 4,052,457 to Nagakura et al. (herein referred to as "Nagakura").

Nagakura teaches the following fragrance compound:

This compound is within the scope of the claimed invention when: $m=1$; $R=\text{acetyl group}$; $R1=\text{CH}_3$; $R2=\text{H}$; $R3=\text{CH}_3$; $R4=\text{H}$; the wavy and dotted lines are double bonds.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1, 2, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 & 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USP 4,639,330 to Sprecker et al. (herein referred to as "Sprecker").

Sprecker teaches the following compound for its aromatic properties.

Art Unit: 1743

This compound is similar to the scope of the claimed compound, where: $m=0$; $n=0$; $R_1=H$ or methyl; $R_2=H$; $R_3=CH_3$ or C3-C4 and $R_4=H$.

The Sprecker compound differs from the instantly claimed invention in that R_3 may be a C3 alkyl rather than ethyl. However, compounds that are position isomers (compounds having the same radicals in physically different positions on the same nucleus) or homologs (compounds differing regularly by the successive addition of the same chemical group, e.g., by $-CH_2-$ groups) are generally of sufficiently close structural similarity that there is a presumed expectation that such compounds possess similar properties. In re Wilder, 563 F.2d 457, 195 USPQ 426 (CCPA 1977). See also In re May, 574 F.2d 1082, 197 USPQ 601 (CCPA 1978) (stereoisomers prima facie obvious). Prior art structures do not have to be true homologs or isomers to render structurally similar compounds prima facie obvious. In re Payne, 606 F.2d 303, 203 USPQ 245 (CCPA 1979) (Claimed and prior art compounds were both directed to heterocyclic carbamoyloximino compounds having pesticidal activity. The only structural difference between the claimed and prior art compounds was that the ring structures of the claimed compounds had two carbon atoms between two sulfur atoms whereas the prior art ring structures had either one or three carbon atoms between two sulfur atoms. The court held that although the prior art compounds were not true homologs or isomers of the claimed compounds, the similarity between the chemical structures and properties is sufficiently close that one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to make the claimed compounds in searching for new pesticides.).

7. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nagakura.

Nagakura fails to teach the specific compound of claim 6. However, compounds that are position isomers (compounds having the same radicals in physically different positions on the same nucleus) or homologs (compounds differing regularly by the successive addition of the same chemical group, e.g., by -CH₂- groups) are generally of sufficiently close structural similarity that there is a presumed expectation that such compounds possess similar properties. In re Wilder, 563 F.2d 457, 195 USPQ 426 (CCPA 1977). See also In re May, 574 F.2d 1082, 197 USPQ 601 (CCPA 1978) (stereoisomers prima facie obvious). Prior art structures do not have to be true homologs or isomers to render structurally similar compounds prima facie obvious. In re Payne, 606 F.2d 303, 203 USPQ 245 (CCPA 1979) (Claimed and prior art compounds were both directed to heterocyclic carbamoyloximino compounds having pesticidal activity. The only structural difference between the claimed and prior art compounds was that the ring structures of the claimed compounds had two carbon atoms between two sulfur atoms whereas the prior art ring structures had either one or three carbon atoms between two sulfur atoms. 8. Claim 5 and 7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
